Description of the School

Over the recent decades, the distribution of income has been evolving in many advanced and developing countries, leading to increased disparities between the rich and poor, a declining share of the middle class, and a growing public demand for redistribution. Furthermore, increasingly convincing evidence has been provided to show that growing income inequality has harmful effects on economic growth and poverty reduction and tends to amplify the risk of crisis. As a consequence, the subject of income inequality and poverty has featured prominently back in the economics research agenda, especially since the Great Recession (2008) and the consequent inability of the world economy to fully recover from the crisis.

The goal of the School will be to provide students with a better understanding of domestic and international patterns of income distribution, by delivering lectures from experts of both the China Institute for Income Distribution (Beijing Normal University, China) and the University of Macerata - as well as scholars from other Italian Universities - on the main approaches to the measurement of inequality and poverty, their main trends, and their fundamental determinants. During the School, students will also have the opportunity to present their own work and receive comments from faculty.

The following is a more comprehensive map of the city center:

Wi-Fi connection is available in the main university buildings. To get to access to the Wi-Fi network:

- Enter your mobile phone number in the home screen (it is necessary to register only the first time); an SMS will be sent with a verification code that, once inserted, will recognize the device forever in each UniMC building (therefore, username and password will no longer have to be entered).
- The verification code is linked to the device; therefore, if you have multiple devices, you need to make multiple registrations (one for each device) - e.g. for a smartphone, a tablet and a laptop, three registrations will be required and three codes will be obtained, which, once inserted in the three devices, will be recognized by the system.
- Access to the Wi-Fi access is also available using your credentials from one of your favorite social networks (Google+, Twitter, Facebook, LinkedIn).
